

JAIKE Manuscript Size (Page-Length) Policy

The International Journal of Artificial Intelligence & Knowledge Engineering (IJAIKE) is a peer-reviewed, open-access scientific journal dedicated to advancing global research in artificial intelligence and knowledge engineering.

When responding to a revised submission of a manuscript for possible publication in the journal, the Associate Editor will inform the author(s) that if their paper is accepted for publication, there will be a manuscript size limit for the article.

Before the final acceptance of the manuscript, or during subsequent revision cycles, the editors recommend that the author(s) resubmit the revised manuscript, eliminating redundancies and ensuring that their writing is concise and compact. This should follow the Reviewers' and Editor's recommendations for quality and content, and adhere to paper formatting requirements as officially posted on our website as follows:

<https://ijaike.org/formatting-for-publication/>

To ensure high-quality publishing and 24/7 global accessibility of the published articles, without significant cost barriers for authors, IJAIKE applies a flexible, size-based Article Processing Charge (APC) for accepted manuscripts. For authors who submitted the manuscript before the APC waiver deadline and took advantage of our APC promotion offer, we are waiving the fees for the manuscripts of standard size (for articles up to 25 pages). Manuscripts over 25 pages are considered oversized.

During the manuscript's revision process, authors are requested to carefully write a concise and compact paper to maintain the balance between the quality of the contents and the efficient mode of its presentation.

In situations where, despite authors' genuine efforts, authors are not able to accommodate their revised paper within the Editor's "manuscript's free page-length limit, authors must pay the extra-page surcharge based on the following submission rates:

- Up to "25-manuscript-pages"—APC waived, No surcharge (free);
- Beyond twenty-five (25) manuscript pages – APC surcharge @$49/extra page;

As informed in previous communications, the "25 prescribed" page-length limit is based on the manuscript (preprint version) length of the revised article as submitted by the authors and formatted as follows.

- A manuscript page is an 8-1/2 in. by 11 in. letter-size paper, with 1-inch margins all around.

- The entire article is written and revised in Microsoft Word, formatted double-spaced, using Times New Roman 11-point font size.
- You are welcome to use single-spacing between two consecutive paragraphs or equations for clarity.
- For consistency purposes, each illustration or table is inserted when it is referred to in the manuscript for the first time, along with their (Tables & figures) captions. Also, separately, submit a list of Figures and a list of tables in addition to the manuscript, fully formatted as outlined above.

Why Author Processing Fees (APC)?

As an open-access journal, IJAIKE does not charge subscription fees to the readers. Anyone can download the published JAIKE papers without paying any fees. Instead, the APC covers the validation, enrichment, production, and preservation of your work, including:

- Submission and double-blind peer review management
- Editorial development, ethical validation, and plagiarism screening
- Copyediting, typesetting, data normalization, and formatting
- DOI registration, abstracting, and indexing
- Legal deposit and long-term digital archiving
- Platform maintenance and open-access dissemination
- Curation and display of article-level metrics for reach and impact analysis

The APC fee ensures every published article is rigorously reviewed, professionally presented, and permanently accessible—without paywalls—for the global research community.

- This fee is calculated only after the manuscript is accepted and the final revised version is submitted in compliance with the Author Submission Guidelines.
- The APC fee for the oversized manuscript is $49/ extra page, and it applies only to the final submitted manuscript after the paper has been accepted.
- There are no fees for initial submission or peer review. APC applies only at the final publication stage.
- The above is the official (IJAIKE.org) rate for each JAIKE submission.
